Gov't Reports Jobless Total Now 4,494,000

Jumps More Than 1,100,000 During Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that the number of unemployed rose to 4,494,000 last month, the highest since February, 1950.

The total of jobless persons jumped more than 1,100,000 between mid-December and mid-January, the monthly Commerce Department unemployment report said.

The one-month increase was the largest since detailed records were started in 1940. A spokesman for the Commerce Department said, however, that there was "comparable" one-month increases in the business declines of 1949-50 and 1953-54.

The report also said that total employment dropped 2,200,000 during the month to 62,238,000. The spokesman said the normal increase in unemployment between mid-December and mid-January is 500,000 to 600,000.

The rate of unemployment, which is the percentage of the total civilian work force out of jobs—moved up to 5.8 per cent in January, the report said.

Before the current recession began the unemployment rate had been between 4 and 4.2 per cent for more than two years.

The unemployment total for January, 1950, when 4,800,000 persons were out of jobs.

The report said the number of persons collecting unemployment benefits rose nearly as much as total unemployment—900,000—to 2,850,000 in mid-January.

Resignation Follows Firing Chief Counsel

Schwartz Charges Attempt to Whitewash Influence Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Morgan M. Moulder, resigned as chairman today and two aides quite as staff members of a House subcommittee which had been investigating alleged misconduct in federal regulatory agencies.

They resigned as a result of the subcommittee's action Monday night in firing its chief counsel, Dr. Bernard Schwartz. Schwartz had accused the subcommittee majority of trying to "whitewash" his charges of White House "influence" on decisions of the Federal Communications Commission.

Schwartz excepted Moulder, but the Missouri Democrat told his colleagues he had found it impossible to carry on the investigation under the circumstances.

The 11-man subcommittee met in secret session to receive Moulder's formal resignation and to quiz Schwartz, subpoenaed to appear and surrender all of his files.

Schwartz' two chief assistants in the investigation, Paul S. Berger and Herbert M. Wachtell, also resigned this morning.

"Powerless as Chairman"

Before going, before the subcommittee, Schwartz called it a "kangaroo court" that "makes a star chamber proceeding look like a paragon of virtue."

Moulder read to the subcommittee a statement in which he said he had "diligently applied my time and efforts" to carry out a successful investigation of the government's regulatory bodies.

But he said he had found himself "powerless as chairman without the usual and customary authority delegated to a chairman by the support of a majority of a congressional committee." He said also he had been unable to prevent "dissension and disagreement among the members."

Moulder said he would continue as a member of the subcommittee "to secure an objective and thorough investigation."

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the full House Commerce Committee, assumed the subcommittee chairmanship as the secret session began.

Deny Whitewash Charges

Schwartz arrived at the subcommittee hearing with an armful of documents and papers to help him testify.

Schwartz, 34, a New York University law professor on leave, told United Press his firing meant the investigation "now has as much chance as a snowball in hell."

"I find I am in apparent disagreement with the majority of the members of the committee," Moulder said. "I am very unhappy because Schwartz was dismissed."

Schwartz specifically exempted Moulder and Reps. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), Peter Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) and Charles Wolcott (R-N.J.) from his whitewash charges.

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.), a subcommittee member who was included in Schwartz's charge, called the counsel a "contemptible liar." Williams declared there was "no evidence" to support the whitewash allegation.

Another member, Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.), said Schwartz had done a "lot of screaming about the evidence he has" and will be given a full opportunity to present "any and all information he has of dishonesty and corruption" in the FCC.

Schwartz has charged that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams "has influenced decisions." He said President Eisenhower's brother-in-law, Col. George Gordon Moore, "figured in many cases."

Appel Tells of Early Experiences In Getting REA

MY GOOD FRIEND, A. A. APPEL of Stonefort, reminisced a bit in a letter to me the other day.

"I have retired, and have a lot of time to think, and here are my memories," said Mr. Appel, who has been a charter member of the Saline County Farm Bureau for 40 years and is still on the farm.

Then he related something about his experiences in the beginning of the Rural Electrification Administration in Harrisburg, when the late Harry Neville was farm adviser from 1935 to 1942.

"I went to the Farm Bureau office in 1938 and said to Mr. Neville, 'Harry, tell me something about this Rural Electrification; we hear a little about it on the radio and get a sketch in the newspapers now and then, and we may be interested.'"

"Harry laughed and said 'That is what we are all trying to find out.' Then he said 'Come and go with me.'"

"We went across the street to the northwest corner of the square in Harrisburg, and to a small room upstairs. There sat A. F. Lentz, the manager, on a wooden box, and in front of him was a larger wooden box to serve as a desk. You know, back in those days we got goods shipped in wooden boxes and they came in handy. On the wall were some brackets holding up a piece of shipplap and some papers were on this crude shelf.

"That was all the equipment in the first REA office here."

After talking with Mr. Lentz he said: 'Here is what you do. You take some of these right-of-way easements and member service agreements home with you and if you can get as many as ten of your neighbors to sign them we will see what we can do.'"

"I took my applications and went home. We had good lights (Continued on Page Six)

Blizzard-battered sections of New York State braced today for up to 18 inches of new snow and winter's worst cold wave touched off a hazardous ice storm from Texas to Alabama and Mississippi.

The death-dealing cold wave ranged from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast with no relief in sight.

A United Press survey showed at least 54 deaths blamed on the choked highways with six-foot drifts. Eleven victims were reported in New England, 8 in Texas, 7 in Oklahoma, 5 in Pennsylvania, 2 in Ohio and 1 each in Illinois, South Dakota, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

The sub-zero cold in the North whipped into Dixie, triggering ice storms Monday that coated highways from the Texas Panhandle into Oklahoma, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Keep Thruway Open

Weathermen warned the freezing rain will be followed up by snow in Louisiana today and ice storms in central and southern Alabama and Mississippi. More freezing drizzle was expected in northern Texas and the Texas Panhandle.

Near zero weather followed up a two-day blizzard in western New York and weathermen predicted 7 to 18 inches of new snow today for some parts of the region.

Near Baldwinville, in central New York, searchers tramping across towering drifts Monday heard a car horn blowing beneath their feet. They dug out the buried car and found Henry Allen, 46, dead and his wife, Blanche, 44, suffering from frozen legs. Mrs. Allen said they had been marooned in the drift since Saturday.

Highway crews battled drifts throughout the area, and managed to keep the New York State Thruway open although speeds were reduced to 35 miles per hour in blowing snow. Squalls forced the Buffalo, N. Y., airport to close down for a time Monday afternoon and trains and buses reached the city as much as 90 minutes late.

Overnight temperatures again plunged below zero from North Dakota east through Minnesota and most of the northern Great Lakes. Readings of about 10 degrees above were common along the Ohio River and temperatures dropped to the 30s in most of the Southland.

The clear, cold weather produced a spectacular display of the aurora borealis, or northern lights, which was visible in most of the North and in the extreme South from Arizona to Florida. The lights appeared to be most brilliant in the Midwest where they flashed in fingers of red, green and white.

Father Trades His Freedom for Few Moments with Dying Daughter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Backover came home today to trade his freedom for a few moments with his dying daughter.

The 28-year-old father came out of hiding to face arrest on grand larceny charges in order to answer the prayers of 6-year-old Paula Ann, who is suffering from leukemia.

He walked into his home this morning after a train trip from the West Coast. He called Police Chief Silas Dennis Jr. of suburban Hyattsville, Md., and arranged to give himself up this afternoon after he visits Paula Ann at Children's Hospital.

The police chief agreed to the plan.

Meanwhile, a Miami restaurant owner has offered to pay $1,000 of the $2,300 Backover is accused of stealing to win for the father the

Mears Receives Sentence of 14 to 15 Years

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill. (AP)—Ray Mears, 26, New Haven, was sentenced to from 14 to 15 years in prison today for the shotgun slaying of pensioner Vincent York, 74, last July 19.

Mears pleaded guilty to a murder charge last Tuesday as selection of a jury was underway for his trial in Gallatin County Circuit Court here.

Circuit Judge Roy Gulley of Benton fixed sentence for Mears this morning.

York was fatally wounded as he was peeling potatoes on the front porch of his home. Mears had borrowed a shotgun from a neighbor the day of the shooting, saying he was going squirrel hunting on his way home.

He surrendered to the sheriff the morning after the shooting.

Authorities said Mears had argued with York over an overflow cesspool.

A decision on what to do about murder charges against Robert and Hallas Mears, brothers of Ray, in the same case was expected this afternoon, the circuit clerk's office said.

Hussein also was reported to have invited King Saud of Saudi Arabia to the talks, but no Saudi representative was present. Informed sources said Saud insisted that Iraq leave the Baghdad Pact before discussing any monarchist federation.

Let's Brag About Area, Farley Says In Lions Address

"Let's all brag about Southern Illinois," William Farley told the Harrisburg Lions club Monday evening.

Mr. Farley was guest speaker at the Lions Ladies' Night program and described—both by words and film—some of the beauties of southern Illinois and pointed out the tourist attractions in this part of the state.

Mr. Farley declared that efforts by many metropolitan writers to describe southern Illinois were distorted by pre-conceived ideas. "I can't understand why some writers come and spend time visiting and talking with our people. They already have the idea we have a bloody past and depressed future and that is the theme of many of their writings."

"Some one with a true knowledge of southern Illinois and a desire to point out the beauties of the area should write a series of articles for the people in the metropolitan areas to read," Mr. Farley stated.

The film, in color, was one Mr. Farley had made in the summer and featured activities around the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds.

Mr. Farley indicated southern Illinois can't be as bad as pictured by some when it has, among many other attractions, the Du Quoin Fairgrounds that stages races and entertainment of nationwide interest.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Behold the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom, and to depart from evil is understanding. Job 28:28.

No sane man would violate the law of gravity. That mysterious power that holds the infinite universe in its course. But God has higher laws that it would be fatal to ignore.

Tom Edison— Humanity's Friend

EDITOR'S NOTE: February 9-15 is being observed as National Electrical Week, the purpose of which is to point up the role of the electric industry in America's economic progress and of its contribution to our way of life. In connection with this observance, and with the birthday of Thomas A. Edison, which is today, February 11, the Register submits the editorial tribute which follows.

February is indeed the "Month of Greatness" for America, since it marks the birthday anniversaries of three men who made major contributions to the political, social and economic life of the nation.

George Washington fathered our republic. Abraham Lincoln preserved it, and Thomas A. Edison, through his inventions, brought it to full flower of economic development.

Washington freed us from tyranny. Lincoln abolished slavery. Edison brought a fuller, more abundant life to all humanity through the advent of the Electrical Age which he fostered.

Credited with more than 1,100 inventions Edison throughout his career kept one goal in mind: To give humanity . . . through his inventions . . . a better, easier way of life. As one of his contemporaries so aptly stated: "Could we take Edison and his works out of the world, we would engender the keenest appreciation of Edison in the world."

His invention of the first practical incandescent lamp in 1879 marked the beginning of the electric light and power industry. From this one invention began the Electrical Age with all its time-saving, labor-saving devices enjoyed today in the home, on the farm, in business and industry. It created jobs for millions, brought a drug-free life not even dreamed of previously.

In the pursuit of material truths and their conversion into practical, usable beneficial forms, civilization has never known his equal. He was humanity's friend. His works stand as a monument to the material betterment of all mankind.

Register Editor Writes of Tour of Southern States

Finds Folks Still Talk About Business, Weather, Families; Highways are Improved

By Curtis Small
Editor The Daily Register
MARGARET AND I returned last week-end from a three-weeks' tour of the southern states, covering slightly more than 3,000 miles, visiting with friends or stopping at places of interest.

After previous trips, Register readers either have been charitable in their compliments or genuinely enjoyed reading our reports of travel experiences, so we are again reporting.

We traveled through parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida and Georgia, and found as we had previously observed, that folks are about the same everywhere. They complained about the weather, expressed uncertainty about business, discussed their health, their families, politics and satellite.

WE HEADED FOR Louisiana or the way out, and were accompanied by Mrs. L. O. Hamby Margaret's mother, who is visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hamby at LaPlace, La. We followed the new route 142 to Paducah, 45 to Union City, Tenn., then 51 to LaPlace, stopping overnight at Grenada, Mississippi.

On the entire trip, we found roads generally improved since our last tour three years ago. Narrow roads are being widened and resurfaced, as in this area, and many four-lane roads have been built near larger cities, with others under construction. We especially noted an improved road from Jackson to Milan, Tenn., and four-lanes are being built to by-pass Milan but are still under construction.

We were fortunate in evading traffic violation charges in some of the villages noted for halting most of the hospital compound, evidently a very old structure. Dr. Land explained this was built more than a hundred years ago and its purpose was, of all things, to prevent mosquitoes from entering the hospital compound. It had been learned at that time that mosquitoes carried malarial germs, but their habits had not been determined, and it was thought that they would not enter over the wall.

"Hey Fellas, Let's Not Overdo It"

An old Spanish fort was another of the almost ancient structures. We noted that the residents of the area advertised Pensacola had been under five flags. We did not inquire definitely, but supposed this meant the Spanish, French, English, Confederate and United States.

We attended Sunday morning church services at the air station chapel, and appreciated the sermon by a most capable chaplain. This was the first time Margaret or I had attended a worship service on an armed service base.

Dr. Land anticipates retiring from Naval service within the next few years, tentatively plans to enter private practice in the Galveston area, and they have their eyes on eventual retirement in Crockett, Texas. Their son, Jack, and his family live in the area now and their son-in-law and daughter, Captain and Mrs. Robert Maiden, are in Texas, where he anticipates ending a career in the U. S. Marines shortly.

LEAVING PENSACOLA we followed route 98 along the gulf so we might see the ocean lights instead of going inland toward Tallahassee. The weather had become threatening and it was cloudy and windy during the day but this only accentuated the rough beauty of the ocean and sand dunes as we went through numerous residential colonies along the route. We presumed many of these were for summer occupancy, as they were still closed as we passed. Shortly before the end of the day, we moved inland on route 98, taking route 27 from Perry, Florida to Old Town, where we stayed overnight within a few hundred yards of the SUWANEE river, immortalized by Stephen Foster's song.

TOMORROW: About Florida and the trip home.

News from the State Capitol

Fishing in Illinois has gone p $1 a person under legislation passed by the 70th General Assembly. The fishing license is now $2. Director Glen D. Palmer of the State Department of Conservation declared the increase will show its effects in improved angling.

The extra dollar has been earmarked for permanent improvements in connection with water development and fishing. None of the extra money can be used until July 1, 1959, because it must be appropriated by the next session of the legislature which will be in session during the first six months of 1959.

Hunting and fishing licenses in Illinois expired January 31. The director issued a friendly warning to ice fishermen and those in areas of the state with open water to be sure they have new license. Fox hunters and those who use the shooting preserves would do well to secure a new hunting license, too, Palmer said.

Governor William G. Stratton announced that his fourth annual State Park Photo contest will again begin April 1 and close August 1.

Bettina Allen Weds
Joseph E. Lewis in Wisconsin
Before an altar decorated with evergreens and candles, Bettina Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cartwright of Milton, Wis., and Joseph E. Lewis, Maplewood, Mo., formerly of this county, were married Dec. 27, by the Rev. Elmo Randolph in the Milton, Wis., Seventh Day Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Applegate, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended them. The bride wore a brown suit trimmed in mink, and a small brown hat. She carried a garland corsage on a white Bible. Her attendant wore a tan knitted suit, with brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow carnations. Kenneth Babcock, a former classmate of the bridegroom sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, and a hymn, "O Perfect Love." He was accompanied by Miss Betty Daland at the organ who also played "The Faithful Shepherd," Handel, "Traumeri," Schumann, and "Evening Star," Wagner. The melody, "O Perfect Love," was used as a procession and, Miss Daland continued playing it softly on the carillon bells, after the ceremony, and during part of the reception.

The ushers were William Arthur, and K. Spencer Howard.

Seventy guests attended the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. Elmo Randolph and Mrs. A. H. Lambright, assisted by Mrs. Nina Summers, and Mrs. Steve Summers. Mrs. Truman Lippincott and Mrs. Leon Todd had charge of the kitchen. Miss Olivia Knutson, Janesville, Wis., had charge of the gifts, and Mrs. Earl Hancock, Harrisburg, sister of the bridegroom, the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will make their home in St. Louis, where Mr. Lewis has been employed as a mail handler at the Union Station for the past fifteen years. He attended Milton college, and Salem college, Salem, W. Va., and he is a graduate of HTHS.

The bride is an accomplished musician, and is well known in music circles of her home community. She has served as organist at the Congregational church for the past three years and has been employed at the Burdick Corporation, Milton, Wis., for two years.

She carried a white orchid surrounded by Stephanotis for her bridal bouquet, arranged with white velvet tubing and net and bearing a crystal Rosary.

Mary Jo Christman, sister of the bride, served as her maid of honor and wore a viola pink chiffon taffeta dress over nylon net. The full ballerina skirt had a flat front panel and the bodice was styled with a scoop neckline and push-up Dolman sleeves. Her matching

Your Income Tax

Filing Requirements, Personal Exemptions

H. J. White, Director of the Internal Revenue Service for this district today listed those who must file a Federal income tax return for 1957 and he also outlined the rules for claiming personal exemptions and exemptions for dependents.

Every citizen or resident of the United States, including minors, who had $600 or more gross income in 1957 must file. If 65 or over by January 1, 1958, no return is required unless gross income was at least $1,200. Those with less income should file to obtain a refund of any tax withheld from their salary or wages.

There is one exception to these general rules: if you are a self-employed person (i.e., if you are carrying on a trade or business as a sole proprietor, as a member of a partnership, or rendering services as an independent contractor) you must file an income tax return and pay a self-employment tax if you have net earnings from your self-employment of $400 or more, even though your gross income is less than $600.

Returns should be filed as soon after January 1 as possible, but no later than April 15, 1958. Returns should be mailed to the "District Director of Internal Revenue" for the district where you live. The address is listed on the instruction booklet accompanying your blank form. Checks or money orders for any tax due should accompany the return and should be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

Every taxpayer is entitled to at least one personal exemption of $600. If 65 or over, or blind, you get two $600 exemptions. If both blind and 65 or over, three exemptions. The same exemptions are allowed for your wife (or husband) if a joint return is filed. If you file a separate return, you may claim your wife's exemptions only if she had no income and was not the dependent of another taxpayer. If your husband or wife died during 1957, the number of his or her exemptions are determined as of the date of death. Be sure to check the appropriate blocks on your return.

You get only one $600 exemption for each dependent, regardless of their age or other circumstances. You may claim an exemption for each child, stepchild, or legally adopted child who received more than half of his or her support from you and who had not reached the age of 19. If the child is 19 or over, and is not a full-time student, you lose the exemption if he had over $600 income of his own. The child must also be either a citizen of the United States or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

For dependents other than children, five requirements must be met to claim an exemption. The dependent must: (1) Have received less than $600 gross income; (2) have received more than half of his support from you; (3) not have filed a joint return with his wife (or her husband); (4) be a citizen of the United States or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone; and (5) must either have been a member of your household for the entire taxable year, or must be related to you (or to your wife or husband if a joint return is filed).

If several persons together contributed more than half the support of an individual during the year, but no one contributed more than half alone, the group may designate one of their number to claim the exemption.

If a dependent was born or died during the year, you can claim a full exemption if the dependent met the above tests for the part of the year they were alive.

Under certain circumstances provided by the law, individuals who are "Head of a Household" or "Surviving Spouse" are entitled to special tax rates. Consult the instructions accompanying your blank return form for the details.

Mr. White advised taxpayers who have any questions concerning their Federal income tax return for 1957 to telephone or visit the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. The local office may be reached by telephone CL 3-7993. The address of the local office is 111½ North Main, Harrisburg.

Gen. LeMay Worried Most About U. S. Complacency

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay is a worried man.

Anyone else who believed what LeMay believes about the state of our defenses probably would be a frightened man.

But when you look at LeMay's round, impassive face, with the cigar clamped defiantly in his jaw, you feel that this man has never really been frightened. Alarmed, perhaps, but not frightened.

"I think," he said slowly, biting viciously at his cigar, "that the situation is more dangerous than the public seems to realize."

"I am not willing to concede defeat, ever. But we have a long way to go. I do not believe we are acting fast enough."

Built A-Bomb Force

LeMay is the four-star general who built our atom-bomber force, the Strategic Air Command. Now he's vice chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force. Because he has become a personal symbol of the air power which is America's principal shield against aggression, he was chosen to represent the military profession in answering the question which the United Press asked of six leading Americans:

"What troubles you most as you look at America today?"

His answer was "complacency—lack of understanding of the threat we face."

LeMay is the most grimly earnest man this reporter has ever met. He did not smile once during the interview. There was no chit-chat.

Like all top military officials today, LeMay is required to submit his public utterances to Defense Department clearance. You suspect that this requirement inhibits him, that what he could say on the record was only a shadow of the concern he feels.

But what he said was disturbing enough:

Russians Overtaking Us

The Russians are rapidly overtaking us in strategic air power—airplane power. "I personally believe that if the present trend continues, the Soviet fleet of long range bombers may well be mightier than our own in a short time—perhaps 1959, by 1960 at the latest." If and when that happens, we will be wide open to a surprise attack.

LeMay does not agree with the theory held widely elsewhere in the Pentagon that war is unlikely, so long as America has sufficient strength to strike back hard.

"I just can't believe that you can deter anyone from attacking you when you have less military strength than they have," he said.

"Security to me calls for creating a situation which makes it clear to all the world who is ahead and who is going to win hands-down if there is a war."

Brazil is the largest independent nation in South America both in area and population.

Foreign Ministers Meeting Not Essential to Summit Talks: Dulles

Statement Seen Major Step for Early Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that a foreign ministers' meeting with Russia is not essential as a prelude to an East-West summit conference.

Dulles' statement was viewed as a major step toward early East-West negotiations through ambassadorial channels to arrange a summit conference later this year.

The United States, until now, has placed heavy emphasis on a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers—a move the Soviets have opposed.

Dulles made his statement at a news conference about an hour after President Eisenhower and new Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov exchanged formal pledges that the United States and Russia will work for peace through "negotiations."

Menshikov told reporters after calling at the White House to present his credentials that the President also agreed on the hope that a new summit conference can be "organized."

Dulles, at his news conference, warned anew that it always is difficult to negotiate with the Soviets at any level. He said negotiations take long and hard bargaining.

Dulles did not shut the door on a foreign ministers' meeting entirely. He said this government does not know whether initial discussions with the Russians will indicate a foreign ministers' meeting is necessary. But he turned away from the idea of such a parley, saying the last thing this government wants is a long, drawn-out foreign ministers' meeting with the Russians.

The Eisenhower - Menshikov pledge to work for peace through negotiations was regarded as another step toward a possible summit meeting.

The pledge was made in a formal exchange of remarks between the President and Menshikov, who conferred for 30 minutes and then posed for pictures.

East St. Louis Leases Senior High School to SIU

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — The East St. Louis Board of Education Monday approved the signing of a lease making East St. Louis Senior High School available to Southern Illinois University.

The lease gives the university use of the building for $1 a year and will go into effect as soon as the high school moves into new quarters.

The Board of Education received a petition with 2,000 signatures protesting the leasing of the building and urging that it be turned over to the Rock Junior high school.

The petitioners also urged that the Rock Junior high school building be turned over to SIU.

To compromise, the board allotted six additional rooms in the senior high school building to be walled off from part of the building to be leased to the university.

Southern has been using the senior high school facilities this year on a part time basis.

22 Traffic Deaths In State in Week

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The state Traffic Safety Division reported today there were 22 traffic deaths in Illinois in the past week, compared with 39 deaths in the corresponding week of 1957.

The 22 deaths for the week of Feb. 4-10 included six persons who died of injuries suffered in earlier accidents.

These six deaths included 3 in Cook County, and 1 each in Coles, Hancock and Shelby counties. The 16 other traffic fatalities in the past week included 10 in Cook County, 2 in Saline County, and 1 each in Lake, Sangamon, Warren and Madison counties.

then with my Delco, but I said to my wife that I was supposed to take the papers out and get them signed and I wasn't going to ask my neighbors to sign something I hadn't signed myself; so I signed the first one.

"Everybody I asked signed but I don't know why. I couldn't tell them about it, but I said I thought it would be an improvement to our community."

"Well, I had 15 or 20 signed up and took them back to Mr. Lentz. He said, 'Well, that's fine; we will see what will happen.'"

"Harry Neville, Ben Gates and others also were working in other parts of the territory, selling $5 memberships, and soon things began to shape up. By then the office improved and moved to larger quarters."

"Mr. Lentz called me back to the office and said, 'You've got a lot of easements signed; now here is what I would like for you to do: Go out with these surveyors and stake a line where you think it ought to go.'"

"That I did, and naturally went towards home. If we were refused right-of-way that didn't stop us. There always was some other way to go."

"So we staked lines across country, and you see what happened. No need to tell you what Southeastern Illinois Electric Co. Inc. is doing now. You all know that. Thanks to Farm Bureau."

SIU Studies Purchase of River Steamer

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois University President D. W. Morris has discounted reports that the university would buy the river steamer, Delta Queen, for use as a floating class room.

Morris said SIU has done nothing more than inquire about the boat which has been offered for sale.

Morris said some staff members had suggested that if the vessel could be leased on reasonable terms, it might be used for a new field of summer study for students of geography, geology, history and related subjects by plying the inland waterways.

A group of SIU faculty members plan to visit Cincinnati soon to inspect the Delta Queen.

"If our surveys indicate that an instructional program can be offered with full college credit and at a cost comparable to usual university courses, we may consider entering into negotiations," Morris said.

He added that instruction aboard the steamer would fit into SIU's Mississippi River basin investigations.

Special Promotion By Lawrenceville Merchants Called Off

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — When Lawrenceville merchants announced a special promotion to spur "Dollar Day" sales Saturday, they didn't know they had so many digit-minded customers.

The merchants said they would give $5 worth of merchandise to anyone who showed up with a dollar bill with a serial number of all even or odd-numbered digits.

Merchants had to call off the offer after two hours when customers had claimed more than $1,000 worth of merchandise.

IAA Opposes $248 Million State Bond Issue Plan

CHICAGO (AP) — Farmers are opposed to a proposed $248-million-dollar state bond issue because it would cost an additional 100-million dollars in interest, according to the president of the Illinois Agricultural Assn.

Otto Steffey, Stronghurst, said Monday the Illinois Farm Bureau would prefer a boost in the sales tax in place of the bond issue.

The bond proposal, adopted by the last General Assembly, would finance new buildings for state universities and for the state Department of Public Works.

Voters will be asked to approve the bond issue, at interest not to exceed 4 per cent and not to run longer than 25 years.

"Illinois farmers are against the $248-million-dollar bond issue proposal," Steffey said, "because they question the wisdom of stretching payment of current obligations over a 20-25-year period and off adding an estimated 100 million dollars or more to the cost through interest charges."

"Illinois farmers favor a 'pay-as-we-go' plan," he continued. "We suggest a one-half cent increase in the state sales tax for a five-year period as one alternative to the bond issue."

"At present levels this increase would amply supply the revenue and would supply it as rapidly as the money could be used in the wide-scale building program."

Steffey said another revenue possibility would be to broaden the sales tax by plugging up "some of the loop holes."

Policeman, 20 Firemen Hurt in Milwaukee Blaze

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Twenty firemen and a policeman were hospitalized for smoke inhalation or frost bite Monday night battling a five-alarm fire which turned a South Side shopping district into a scene of ice-caked misery.

Unofficial damage estimates ran as high as a half million dollars. "It's going to be quite a loss," said Deputy Chief Clary Ehlers, who was one of those treated for smoke inhalation.

Dozens of firemen were still at the icy scene this morning trying to quell stubborn flames inside the charred ruins of a two-story brick building which housed a jeweler, restaurant, optometrist, a clinic, a tavern and a barber.

Also destroyed was an adjacent camera shop. Residents of three houses in the fire area were told to vacate, but more than 150 firemen and 20 pieces of equipment kept the flames from spreading.

The firemen fought the flames more than three hours in zero temperature before bringing them under control. Many of those treated for smoke inhalation and frost bite returned to duty.

Five firemen and a policeman were still hospitalized today. The fire, of undetermined cause, started with an explosion in the basement of the two-story building.

Cave-in-Rock Man Dies

Film at Rotary Shows Growth, Service of SIU

A film, "The People's University," was shown before members of the Harrisburg Rotary club Monday at noon by C. R. Gardner, program chairman. The film depicted the rise of Southern Illinois University from a teachers' college covering one block to a university with an area of 2,100 acres. It is not only a university for teachers but also row trains students in many different trades. The film pointed out that many businessmen and groups are being helped by the services of the university. In 1948 when Dr. D. W. Morris became president, he said that it was not the purpose of the university to compete with others, but rather to serve the needs of the people in this area. The film showed SIU certainly is doing this.

Indiana, Michigan State Pace Big Ten Play; Illini Surprises Purdue, 99 to 84

CHICAGO (AP)—The topsy-turvy Big Ten conference race took an other unpredictable bounce Monday night with Michigan State and Indiana landing atop the heap.

Indiana beat Wisconsin, 93-87, with big Archie Dees netting 30 points to strengthen his lead in the conference scoring race. Michigan State bounced Iowa, 90-84, to deadlock Indiana for the top spot. Minnesota knocked Michigan out of first place, 80-69. Northwestern nipped visiting Ohio State 78-76, and Illinois surprised Purdue, 99-84.

The Hoosier victory was a come-from-behind effort against a hot Wisconsin team, which boasted the game's individual standout. Bob Litzow, who pumped through 34 points. It was a nip and tuck affair all the way with the Badgers holding the halftime edge, 47-45, but Indiana rallied to pull the contest out of the fire in the final four minutes.

Spartan Marksmanship

Three Spartans hit 20 points or better as Michigan State beat Iowa to crowd Indiana for a share of the lead. Red-hot Larry Hedden connected for 27 points and teammates John Green and Jack Quiggle contributed 26 and 25 to victory. But Iowa's Dave Gunther topped all scorers with 30 markers.

Northwestern blew a 13-point halftime lead and stalled in the waning minutes of play to nip Ohio State. Joe Ruklick and Dick Johnson shared scoring honors with 19 points apiece while center Larry Huston took individual honors with 24.

Gophers' Third Upset

Minnesota pulled its third straight conference upset to tumble Michigan out of the top seat. The Gophers took charge of the game as the opening whistle and were never headed. Third conference scorer George Kline fired 28 points to pace the upset win for the Gophers.

Don Ohl and Roger Taylor got hot in the final minutes to pace Illinois to the victory over Purdue. Taylor topped all scorers with 29 and Ohl, conference runnerup in scoring, netted 22. Guard Harvey Austin had 24 for the Boll-ermakers.

Michigan was dropped to third place with a 4.3 mark. Purdue fell from second to fourth with a 5.4 record. Ohio State is next with a 5.5 mark, tying 4.4 Iowa for fifth place. Northwestern and Minnesota are tied for sixth with 4.5 records, and Illinois and Wisconsin hold down the cellar berth with 3.5 marks.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The turbulence of the air east of the Rocky Mountains is traditionally varied. The ever changing winds over the mountains cause crosscurrents and danger in the skies. Flying the north and south routes are frequently uncomfortable because the planes have to buck the side winds which are bumpy and unpredictable. It is much more comfortable to fly with the wind or straight into it.

The crosscurrents of life cause us more difficulty than the clear-cut opposition or the obvious encouragement for the job recognized as being well done. Some times these crosscurrents disturb our living until we become emotionally and physically ill. Some of these variable influences could be avoided if we were to shift the courses of our lives.

We need a Pilot who can take us through all the currents and temptations of life. He is ready to take over if we merely assign the task to Him wholeheartedly.

Business and Teaching

The Rewards of Office and Classroom Given in Article by Former Local Teacher

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article which appeared in the "Arkansas Alumnus" was written by Dr. Edward Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reed of Galatia Route 2. Mr. Reed, once an HTHS faculty member, became a professor of economics at the University of Arkansas, left in 1953 to become president of the Fort Smith City National Bank. Last fall he returned to teaching in the College of Business Administration at the University of Arkansas. In 1956 Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business fraternity, named Dr. Reed the outstanding Arkansas businessman of the year.

By Edward Reed

After having had experience in both college teaching and the business world, I find that there are advantages and disadvantages in each.

Business offers a person the opportunity to match his wits in a sense, business is a game in which the businessman is always looking for a better mouse trap—trying to produce a better product or a more efficient service at a lower cost. He receives satisfaction from his success and from recognition within the community in which he works. He earns more money than the college teacher who with his fixed salary is in an especially unfavorable position during periods of rising prices.

But of course business has its disadvantages too. There is the constant threat of a new competitor. Consumers are fickle. The businessman is often plagued with problems involving costs of production.

Though I found much in business to attract me, still I am drawn to teaching for two basic reasons: the satisfaction that comes from helping someone become a master in a particular field of learning, and the opportunity one has to specialize and become better prepared in his field of interest.

The average student in college has an open mind. He has some biases it is true, but on the whole his mind is an open field ready to receive ideas, facts, knowledge. To aid in the development of that mind is a challenge. To see in later years a former student making a success is indeed a great satisfaction. I know of no greater reward than that of seeing his students make a success in society.

I am confident every person has some particular subject or field of knowledge that to him is very interesting, whether he is in teaching or in business. I think being on a faculty is probably the most logical place to develop that interest. Not only will you have an opportunity to teach in that field of interest but you have time to read and conduct research in an excellent library and discuss ideas with your colleagues. Teaching is abundant with what economists call "psychic income," which may be defined as the enjoyment or satisfaction received by an individual from a particular kind of work. Frequent vacations, no set hours to do your work (such as reading, research, preparation of lectures, marking papers, and enjoying the activities of college students—football included) are among the advantages of college teaching.

There are many cultural activities such as plays, concerts, seminars—to name a few which offer many hours of pleasure and the opportunity to further one's knowledge.

There are many people who believe that college professors are "long hairs" and are relegated to teach because they can do nothing else. And there are some who feel that businessmen have little to add to the body of knowledge. There are probably some cases of each, but the general belief is certainly not true.

Businessmen with wide experience and training have much to add to the literature. In our College of Business Administration we rely heavily upon many writings of businessmen in a number of our classes. Many college teachers have done well in business pursuits, government service and the sciences.

Teaching will become more important in the future. Our society is more complex than a generation ago—socially, economically and politically. To be successful in this complex society will require better-trained people. Our graduates of tomorrow must have broader vision, wider experience, and greater capabilities requiring a good education and a higher degree of careful and intensive training. I am happy to be able to share in that training, and hope that I shall contribute to their future.
